Library's Second Floor Plays Host to Some Quirky and Distinguished Photography

The southwest corner of the second floor, affectionately (and functionally) known as "the silent study floor", has been adorned by some intriguing photography. Come see the fascinating world of roadside architecture, expressed in photos taken by John Margolies. To whet your appetite, have a look at the images at www.johnmargolies.com before coming over to see the real deal.

Please Excuse Our Mess!

Renovation to create a new, permanent area for the Center for Learning and Teaching has just begun. The new area will be to your right as you enter Fintel Library. In addition to office space, this area will house Peer Tutoring, the Testing Center, and the Writing Center. A 24-hour study is also being created separately from the CLT.

Temporary adjustments for the year include:

- Interlibrary Loan is now located on the second floor in room 285
- Mrs. Rebecca Heller, Reference Librarian, is in Faculty Study 133
- Mr. Dave Wiseman, Systems Librarian, can be found in the Lending Services area
- Audio-visual stations for individual screenings are at the right rear of the facility.
- Bestsellers are near the DVDs, current newspapers, and circulating periodicals.
- PCs are located along the left side and back wall of the facility.
- The reference desk will temporarily be at the back wall of the facility.

How many librarians does it take to hammer a nail?!

Construction will continue into the semester until the project is completed. We do not have a completion date set at this time. Both the Library and CLT staff will do their best to minimize for students the unavoidable disruptions of a construction project and ask for your understanding.
