

The Peace and Justice Studies Concentration

Student Name: _____

RC ID# _____

The Peace and Justice Studies concentration requires 6 units of work as detailed below.

Required Courses (2 units). PEAC 201 and 301 may serve as substitutions for INQ 271 or HNRS 271.

_____ PEAC 201 Introduction to Peace and Justice Studies

_____ PEAC 301 Seminal Figures and Issues

Elective Courses (Four units), of which a maximum of three electives may be in one division: humanities, social sciences, or sciences. If taking PEAC 406 or PEAC 416, remaining electives must be in two or more divisions.) Each academic year before fall and spring registration, a list of electives, including courses not listed above, will be advertised by email, posted on fliers, and available through the concentration coordinators.

_____ CJUS/POLI 214 Judicial Process

_____ CJUS 326/SOCI 326 Comparative Corrections

_____ COMM 360 Studies in Intercultural Communication

_____ ECON 237 Comparative Economic Systems

_____ ECON 267 Labor Economics

_____ ENGL 312 Studies in the Cross-Cultural Imagination

_____ ENVI 240 Environment, Ethics, and Culture

_____ ENVI 250 Environment and Society

_____ HIST 246/RELG 246 The Holocaust

_____ HIST 255 South Africa

_____ HIST 262 U.S. Women's History

_____ PEAC 406 Independent Study

_____ PEAC 416 Peace and Justice Internship

_____ PHIL 205 Moral Philosophy

_____ PHIL 206 Social Philosophy

_____ PHIL 212 Environmental Philosophy

_____ POLI 231 International Politics

_____ POLI 232 International Organizations

_____ POLI 333 Global Political Economy

_____ POLI 351 Environmental Public Policy

_____ POLI 352 Human Rights Policy

_____ RELG/PHIL 208 Buddhism

_____ RELG/PHIL 213 Religions and Philosophies of India

_____ RELG/PHIL 218 Religions and Philosophies of China

_____ RELG 220 Christian Ethics

_____ SOCI 215 Social Movements

_____ SOCI 224 Race and Ethnicity

_____ SOCI 327 Religion and Culture

_____ SOCI 335 Global Population Problems

_____ SOCI 337 Environmental Sociology

_____ SOCI 338 Global Women