

Umbra Institute

Study Abroad in Perugia, Italy!

Students choose English courses in the General Studies program in the following fields: art history, anthropology, environmental science, psychology, business, history, studio art, classical studies, religion, philosophy, sociology, and various other disciplines.

All students are required to take an Italian language course as part of their curriculum.

Nearly all courses have class-related excursions throughout Umbria, Tuscany, and other Italian regions.

Community engagement is a pillar of the Umbra experience.
